This work is regarding the result of experiences in courses and workshops accomplishment about hypermedia and multimedia systems production where the learning is based on "education by design" and adequations of each student to the learning style and to the own abilities too. In these works the participants are professionals of different disciplines that are living the hypermedia production atmosphere involving themselves in a project according to their abilities and motivations, in a format that is very close to the real project development. As an example, in this poster/demo session, we will present the obtained results with the accomplishment of one of these workshops, a CD-ROM called “Fragments.”

IMAGE NOT AVAILABLE

Figure 1: Main Screen of “Fragments” CD-ROM