CourseSites: A Free and Hosted Platform For Open Initiatives

CourseSites.com has successfully launched two MOOCs in their CourseSites Open Course Series (open.coursesites.com). In addition, the team is currently working with several institutions to assist in developing their own MOOCs using CourseSites. Hear about lessons learned and how you could utilize CourseSites as a free platform to teach a MOOC and publish OER resources.

CourseSites.Com is a free, hosted online course creation and facilitation service that empowers individual K-12 teachers, college and university instructors and community educators to add a web--based component to their courses, or even host an entire course on the Internet.